Mentors

Nancy Almodovar | CEO and Owner - Nan and Company Properties

Nancy Almodovar has been working in residential real estate for over a decade. She graduated from the University of Houston Bauer College of Business, is an alumnus of the Goldman Sachs 10,000 Small Business program and is an active member of the Houston Association of Realtors, Texas Association of Realtors and National Association of Realtors. Nancy is also a certified International Property Specialist and has grown her business to be named by the Houston Business Journal as one of the “Best Places to Work” for two years in a row. As a business owner, wife, and mother of two, she aspires to become a role model for all women through her work ethic and generosity. She pioneered the first Nan Cares Toy Drive, a campaign where she and her team collected toys to donate to the economically disadvantaged students of Brookline Elementary School. Almodovar also volunteers for organizations such as Houston Children Give Back, the Houston Ballet, St. Anne Catholic School and Learn Grow Lead, just to name a few.

Bridget R. Anderson | Executive Director - Art Colony Association, Inc.

For 25 years, Bridget Anderson has dedicated her career to nonprofits focusing in the arts, social services and education. Her passion for art and painting has led Anderson to her current position as Executive Director of the Art Colony Association. Anderson joined the organization in September 2015 and has since positively impacted local artists, nonprofits and the art community with her collection of fundraising experience. In 1999, Anderson became the Executive Director of Young Audiences of Houston. At the helm of the organization, Anderson initiated improvements in all areas resulting in increased awareness and revenue. Anderson’s devotion to philanthropy is impressive and in 2010 she joined Chinquapin Preparatory School as its Director of Development. Anderson received a Bachelor of Arts from the University of St. Thomas.

Anna M. Babin | President and CEO - United Way of Greater Houston

As the chief executive of the nation’s fourth largest United Way, Babin blends sound business acumen with a deep understanding of community needs. She led the restructuring of United Way’s community investment portfolio to better align resources to areas that produce long-term change such as family financial stability, education, and support for veterans, and she completed a capital campaign for the new home of 2-1-1 Texas/United Way HELPLINE that answered nearly one million calls for help in 2016. Effective March 1, 2016, Babin completed the merger with Montgomery County United Way creating a strong regional United Way.

Babin graduated from Lamar University with a degree in business administration and maintains her CPA credential. She serves on the boards of the Greater Houston Partnership, Executive Women’s Partnership, United Ways of Texas, University of Houston Board of Visitors, Early Matters Executive Committee, and several United Way Worldwide committees. Anna was named one of 2008’s 50 Most Influential Women in Houston by Houston Women’s Magazine, and she was recognized as a 2009 Woman on the Move by Texas Executive Women.

Kim Syma | Owner - Revolution Studio

Kim Syma, along with her husband and business partner Mitch Syma, is the owner and founder of Revolution Studio, Houston's ultimate boutique fitness experience. By establishing Revolution Studio in 2012, Kim fulfilled her dream of creating a space to inspire, empower and transform the lives of others through fitness.

Today, the Revolution Studio family includes three locations in the Greater Houston Area - Memorial City, River Oaks and Sugar Land - offering a full line up of high-energy indoor cycling classes and Vinyasa flow-based yoga classes. As the brand continues to grow, Kim's commitment to cultivating a strong sense of community among Revolution instructors, staff and guests remains at the core of Revolution's mission.

Tracy Vaught | Owner - H Town Restaurant Group

Tracy is owner of three of Houston's most successful restaurants - Backstreet Cafe, Hugo's and Caracol - as well as the brand new Xochi in downtown Houston. In 1983, the geologist-turned-restaurateur decided to forsake the plotting of America's geothermal energy fields for a more people-oriented profession when she opened her first restaurant, Backstreet Cafe, with her uncle in an old house on the edge of Houston's River Oaks. It was the turning point of her career and life. She met and married Hugo Ortega, whom she hired to work at Backstreet Cafe, and together they have opened Hugo's (2002) and Caracol (2013), and published two cookbooks: Hugo Ortega's Street Food of Mexico (2012) and Backstreet Kitchen: Seasonal Recipes from Our Neighborhood Cafe (2013). She has been recognized by the Houston Business Journal among other awards. Vaught is also co-operator of Third Coast Restaurant & Conference Center, located in the Texas Medical Center.

Mentors

Laurie Vignaud | Senior Vice President - Capital One Bank

Laurie Vignaud has overall responsibility for the development, monitoring, management and promotion of community development programs and Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) initiatives for Capital One Bank in Louisiana and Texas. She has created and led some of the bank's most innovative affordable housing, small business and asset/capacity building initiatives in the region. One such program, Getting Down to Business, has received national recognition. Ms. Vignaud serves as the President of Capital One's Community Development Corporation, which is the entity that provides capital to nonprofit housing developers for the construction of new single-family homes sold to low- and moderate-income first-time homebuyers. She works directly with various governmental, non-profit and for-profit agencies to provide and promote affordable housing, small business and economic development, and asset-building opportunities. Vignaud received a bachelor's degree in sociology from the University of New Orleans and a graduate degree in banking from the Southern Methodist University Southwest Graduate School of Banking in Dallas.
